There was a distinct air of hesitancy in stock market dealings this morning, due to the fact that the conference between the Railroad Labor Board, union leaders and railway executives convened in Chicago. There was a smaller volume of business than in yesterday's session, and newly formed bull pools seemed disinclined to push recent successes until a better idea can be formed regarding the probable result of the conference.

The statement of earnings of the United States Steel Corporation, issued after the close of the market yesterday, was better than expected, but was not sufficiently favorable to warrant a bull demonstration in steel stocks. The fact that the deficit in payment of dividends amounted to nearly $100,000,000, a dampener of bullish ardor, although steel shares were able to rule fractionally above the closing figures of yesterday.

Efforts to establish a higher level of values were confined mainly to the equipment shares. Baldwin Locomotive was again able to get above par in the afternoon, despite a point net gain, and other equipments were up from good size fractions to more than a point. But the movement was not particularly impressive for it was very evident that it was due to professional operations.

Financial interests who all along have been optimistic regarding the railroad situation are now not so sure that the threatened strike will be averted. This doubt has arisen because the Railroad Labor Board opened the conference without a definite plan for averting the strike, and because railway executives appear to admit that there shall be another wage cut. But in spite of the more dubious strike outlook the railway share market remains tranquil because it is best opinion in Wall Street that the strike, if it actually occurs, will be of brief duration; that the service will be beaten and that the railroads will be placed in a materially stronger position.

The pending loan to Cuba, plus a stronger tone in the raw sugar market, had a beneficial influence in the market for sugar shares. American Sugar Refining enjoyed a gain of a point and Cuban American Sugar a similar gain. But because a definite announcement of the proposed financial plan of the Cuba Cane Sugar Company has been made effective these shares were unable to follow the lead of other sugars.

The renewal rate for money repayable on demand was further increased to 6 per cent. This higher rate was without influence on stock market dealing, because it was well understood that the after-call option had been struck for the maturity of the United Kingdom loan and the end of the month interest and dividend requirements the rate will be materially reduced.

5 Attractive
Dividend
Paying Stocks

We believe the time is growing short when speculations in dividend paying stocks can be secured on an attractive basis.

We have therefore selected five leading New York listed stocks as a suggestion to business men who can afford to take a reasonable risk and who are sufficiently farsighted to realize that apparently the turn for the better has definitely set in.

A careful and spendable study, including price history for 1920 and 1921, dividend yield at current prices, approximate cost if purchased outright, open account requirements, etc., of the following:

AMERICAN WOOLEN

ENDICOTT JOHNSON

NEW YORK CENTRAL

PENNSYLVANIA

UTAH COPPER

Returning over 7 per cent. if purchased outright, and about 12-12 per cent. if purchased on open account.

11 TO 12'

There was little if any change in the market during the trading hour of the second hour. Most changes in quotations were due to the whims of professionals and door traders. Certain of the specialties which were leaders in the recent upward movement gave evidence of profit taking, while other specialties were firm. Most of the leading rails were fractionally lower. Pennsylvania was an exception, and the railroads as a whole on a comparatively active trade.

In Mexico Petroleum showed a decline of a point and was about 4 points under the highest price of yesterday. Troubles with a net gain of a point was the strongest of the steel.

The more dubious railway outlook was a factor in cotton and grain trading. Cotton, which had been down from 8 to $1.50 a bale, while wheat declined slightly more than a cent a bushel. Foreign exchange rates failed to develop material changes.

12 TO 1.

The market gradually took on a firmer tone as the session progressed, with oil stocks acting as leaders. Houston Oil rose more than three points to a new high for the present movement, and Anglo Oil and General Asphalt were in especially strong demand. Equipment continued to rise, despite a slight share of a larger volume of business from new high price taking. The movement, except in specialties, seemed to represent nothing more than nervousness of shorts, caused by the apparent stability in the floating supply of stocks and the market's ability to disregard unfavorable developments.

11 TO 12'

The market became more and more especially active during the fourth hour. Pools did not experience much difficulty in marking up their favorites. Endicott-Johnson was in brisk demand by Boston houses, and its strength had a favorable effect on the services of telephone, telegraph, steamship and oil and steel companies.
